

The problem occurs every time I log in to the mail server through my email affiliated with the company, and now I deal on my own email, this is the company's work email that was created recently: <https://www.example.com/>

